DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC HEALTH AND LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT

ORDER

No 4M —3rd January 1945 —Whereas the Provincial Government by its resolution No 709M dated the 23rd March 1942, issued an order under section 553 of the Bengal Municipal Act 1932 (Bengal Act XV of 1932) superseding the Commissioners of the Bhatpara Municipality in the district of the 24 Parganas for a period of one year with effect from the date of publication of that resolution containing the said order in the Calcutta Gazette,

And whereas the said resolution was published in the Calcutta Gazette dated the 23rd March 1942

And whereas the term of supersession of the Commissioners of the said municipality was extended for the period commencing from the 23rd March 1943 and ending on the 31st March 1944 by Government order No 153C M dated the 16th February 1943 published at page 232 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 18th February 1943 and for a further period of one year with effect from the 1st April 1944 by Government order No 906C M dated the 6th September 1943 published at page 1436 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 16th September 1943 for the reasons respectively stated in the said orders

And whereas it is no longer necessary that the administration of the said municipality should continue to remain in charge of the Executive Officer referred to in paragraph II of the said order No 905C M dated the 6th September 1943 but circumstances do not permit the holding of a fresh general election for the purpose of reconstitution of the Commissioners of the said municipality

Now therefore in exercise of the power conferred by clause (m) of sub section (2) of section 554 of the said Act, read with the proviso to that sub section the Governor is pleased to reconstitute the Commissioners of the said municipality by appointment of the following gentlemen whose term of office shall commence on the date of the first meeting of the Commissioners so reconstituted at which a quorum is present and continue up to the 31st March 1946 —

NOTIFICATION

No 7L —8th January 1945 —In continuation of notification No 1118L dated the 7th December 1944 published in Part VI of the Calcutta Gazette of the 14th December 1944 the following Notes on clauses on the Banking Companies Bill are hereby published for general information —

The Banking Companies Bill

(Published in the Gazette of India Part V dated the 18th November 1944 and in the Calcutta Gazette dated the 14th December 1944)

NOTES ON CLAUSES

Clause 1(1) —The Bill is confined to companies carrying on the business of banking It would be impracticable to include within its scope all institutions and individuals dealing in credit in view of the complex credit structure of the country and the fact that moneylending is an item of provincial legislation

Clause 2 —Except in matters pertaining to banking it is desirable that the Indian Companies Act should continue to be applicable to banking companies

Clause 3 —It is unnecessary to include co operative banks which are governed by special legislation

Clause 4 —The object underlying this clause is that in cases of genuine emergency e g a general run on all banks or a run on some banks in a particular area Government should have power to suspend the operation of the Act after considering the recommendations of the Reserve Bank The suspension of clause 18 will for instance enable the Reserve Bank to give an advance to tide over a banking crisis against liquid assets maintained by banks under that clause

Clause 5(b) —The present definition of banking in section 277F of the Indian Companies Act gives rise to administrative difficulties particularly in respect of the words principal business in determining whether a company comes within its scope The new definition is intended to connect banking definitely with the acceptance of demand deposits and to confine the scope of the legislation to those institutions in which funds are deposited primarily to ensure their safety and ready withdrawability It has the further advantage that it automatically excludes non banking companies which accept only time deposits or borrow money at call

Clause 6 —Based on sections 277F and 277G(2) of the Indian Companies Act, 1913

Clause 7 —Sub-clause (1) is considered necessary for the protection of the interests of the depositors while sub-clause (2) merely follows the existing proviso to section 277F of the Indian Companies Act 1913

Clause 8 —This is intended to prohibit a bank from engaging directly or indirectly in trading activities and undertaking trading risks in addition to ordinary banking risks Certain banks have been found to engage in such activities under the guise of agency business

Clause 9 —It is not intended to prohibit a bank from conducting the management of industrial concerns which it may have acquired in satisfaction of its claims or from taking any other steps necessary in the interests of the bank The period prescribed should be sufficient for the disposal of such non banking assets

Clause 10 —This embodies the new section 277HH added to the Indian Companies Act 1913 by the Indian Companies (Amendment) Act 1944 supplemented by a provision disallowing the employment of managing agents under some other name or on a salary disproportionate to the resources of the bank

Clause 11 —One of the chief defects of the Indian banking system is the weak and vulnerable capital structure of the vast majority of banks as evidenced by the fact that during the years 1934 43 no less than 669 banking companies were liquidated or wound up most of which possessed very poor capital resources Even the minimum of Rs 50 000 prescribed by the Indian Companies Act for banks incorporated after the 15th January 1937 is low as compared with many other countries, notwithstanding the lower standard of wealth in India Another defect in the present banking system is the undue concentration of banking offices in a few cities and towns whereas a very large number of small towns have no banking facilities Small banks with low capital have also a tendency to open branches in larger towns which have already sufficient banking facilities Clause 11(1) seeks to remedy these defects

In the case of banking companies incorporated outside British India the provisions as regards capital do not afford any real protection hence the safeguarding provisions of sub-clause (2)

Sub-clause (3) follows the recently enacted section 277I(2) of the Indian Companies Act

Clause 12 —This reproduces section 277J of the Indian Companies Act

Clause 13 —This embodies sub sections (1) and (2) of section 277K of the Indian Companies Act Sub-section (3) of that section has been omitted in view of clause 18 of the Bill which provides for a general reserve

Clause 14 —This follows section 277L(1) of the Indian Companies Act except that the prescribed returns are to be filled with the Reserve Bank and not the Registrar

Sub section (2) of section 277L, which defines the terms demand liabilities' and time liabilities' has been removed to clause 5 of the Bill

Clause 15 —The clause is more or less identical with section 277M of the Indian Companies Act The words issued and subscribed share capital' however have been substituted for the words issued share capital as the latter term is some what confusing and is used indiscriminately

Clause 16 —Past failures of several banks in India have been due mostly to indiscriminate advances to directors or their concerns An absolute and unqualified ban on such transactions would, however result in depriving the banks of the advantage of having on their directorate important and experienced industrial magnates A check is therefore prescribed on advances to directors and their concerns

Clause 17 —When the Reserve Bank s original Proposals for an Indian Bank Act were circulated by Government in 1940 suggestions were received that a system of licensing foreign banks doing business in British India should be introduced The Banking Enquiry Committee had also recommended that banks should be required to take out licenses from the Reserve Bank such licenses being granted freely to the existing banks Clause 17 provides for the licensing of foreign banks intending to open branches in India on the basis of reciprocal treatment of Indian nationals and companies in the foreign countries concerned

Clause 18 —This clause is an attempt to prescribe by law what has already been recognised as sound banking practice viz that a bank should keep a reserve of cash and liquid assets to meet its demand liabilities One of the worst defects of Indian banking is the propensity of the smaller banks to overtrade at the expense of liquidity and it seems best to insist on all banks maintaining a reasonably large proportion of their cover in the form of cash or trustee securities as defined in the Indian Trusts Act excluding immovable property The proportion of 25 per cent is in accordance with the actual practice followed by smaller banks

Clause 19 —The failure of a bank incorporated in an Indian State which had the bulk of its deposits from British India but the greater part of its assets in Indian States has brought out the necessity of protecting the interests of British Indian depositors by requiring such banks to maintain a reasonable proportion of their British Indian liability in the form of assets in British India Export bills are included in such assets with a view to helping Indian exports

Clause 20 —The existing return under section 42 of the Reserve Bank Act applies only to scheduled banks and also omits important details like investments For an adequate control of banking development it is necessary that the Reserve Bank should have a full picture of the banking situation of the country through periodical returns of assets and liabilities

Clause 21 —The intention in prescribing an annual return of deposits which remain unclaimed for 10 years is to enable the Reserve Bank to have the necessary data for consideration of the question whether deposits remaining unclaimed for a prescribed period should be transferred to Government making it responsible for meeting any claim which may be established in future Similar returns are called for, in the banking legislation of Canada and it is provided there that after the lapse of a certain period of years the deposits will be paid over to Government

Clause 22 —The form F laid down by the Companies Act is meant for companies in general and is not suited to the special requirements of banking companies Many of the smaller banks publish their balance sheets in different forms and there is no uniformity of presentation The banks also close their books on different dates making it difficult to have a picture of the banking situation of the country as on a particular date The Central Banking Inquiry Committee, which considered this question in detail recommended a separate form for banking companies As regards banks incorporated outside British India there is no provision in the Companies Act for the publication of separate balance sheets of their Indian business In Forms A and B of the Schedule to the Banking Companies Bill an attempt has been made to provide a form of balance sheet and profit and loss account specially suitable for banking companies

Clause 23 —This provides for the audit of the statements prescribed under clause 22

Clause 24 —At present some of the banks publish their balance sheets after a considerable period from the date to which they relate so that the position of the banks remain unknown for an unduly long period The clause remedies this defect

Clause 25 This follows section 17 of the Insurance Act 1938

Clause 26 —There is no provision in the Indian Companies Act for the publication of balance-sheets by banking companies incorporated outside British India similar to that contained in section 130 applicable to companies incorporated in British India This clause provides for uniformity of treatment as regards the publication of balance sheets

Clause 27 —This provides for the period of transition and follows section 17A of the Insurance Act 1938

Clause 28 —The opinions received on the Reserve Bank s Proposals for an Indian Bank Act circulated in 1940 revealed that public opinion was generally in favour of the inspection of banks by Government or the Reserve Bank In view of this and in the light of the experience gained by the Reserve Bank in connection with the inspection of banks for the purposes of section 42(6) of the Reserve Bank Act and in view of possible post war developments provisions have been made for the inspection in certain circumstances of a bank s books by the Reserve Bank at the instance of the Central Government A regular system of inspection of all banks does not seem practicable and provision has therefore been made for inspection only where necessary in the interests of depositors Sub clause (1) generally follows the lines of section 33(1) of the Insurance Act and sub-clauses (2) and (3) enumerate the various corrective measures which the Central Government may take

Clause 30 —This clause is a modification of section 277N of the Indian Companies Act the period of moratorium having been limited to three months It is the intention that the report under sub clause (2) should be submitted by the Reserve Bank

Clause 31 —The provisions of the Indian Companies Act in respect of liquidation do not seem to be suitable for banking companies A bank's business is conducted on an over the-counter basis and it is important that current accounts should be withdrawable at any time and drafts, etc, should be honoured on presentation, otherwise great business dislocation is likely to result A provision has, therefore, been made under this clause for the winding up of a banking company if it refuses to meet a lawful demand for payment at one of its offices or branches within two working days, if such demand is made at a place where

Calcutta the 30th December 1944

Second Forecast of the Winter Rice Crop of Bengal, 1944-45

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1942-43 the area under winter rice in Bengal has represented some 20·8 per cent of the total area under rice in India.)

Character of the season.—Since the submission of the first forecast of the crop early in October last the weather conditions have not been quite favourable. Want of showers in October has adversely affected the crop at places.

Acreage.—According to the figures supplied by the District Officers the total area under winter rice this year is estimated at 18,538,900 acres as compared with 18,111,300 and 18,176,700 acres in the corresponding and the final forecasts of last year. The increase in area this year is due to the high price of rice prevailing at the sowing time.

Outturn.—From the summary of the district returns it will be seen that 4 districts expect normal outturn of 100 per cent, 14 districts between 93 and 92·7 districts between 75 and 80 and the remaining two below 75.

According to the above estimate the provisional outturn works out to 84 per cent of the normal against 101 and 103 per cent respectively in the corresponding and the final forecasts of last year.

Accepting 84 per cent as the provisional outturn the rate yield of the crop on the basis of the normal yield of 12·2 maunds of clean rice (husked) per acre is estimated at 7,093,000 tons this year against the estimate of 8,333,800 and 8,528,100 tons respectively in the corresponding and the final forecasts of last year.

Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

RESOLUTION—No 91L S G

Calcutta the 17th January 1945

READ—

The reports of the Commissioners of Divisions on the working of the union boards in Bengal during 1941 42

During the year under review the total number of union boards in the Province was 5 140 One new union board was established in the district of Midnapore during this year The Patenga union board in the district of Chittagong however, did not function during a part of the year as the whole of the union was evacuated

The total area covered by the union boards was 58 049 square miles against 58 500 square miles of the previous year and the total population thereof was 46,363 696 against 42 266 131 of the preceding year

2 Franchise —The gradual increase in the number of voters of union boards was maintained the number for the year under review being 5,624 037 against 5,587 326 of the previous year The total number of members of union boards was 46 109 of which 25 974 were Muslims 19,604 were Hindus and 531 belonged to other communities

3 Finance —The income of the union boards including the opening balance amounted to Rs 113 31 lakhs against Rs 114 68 lakhs in the preceding year The receipts from the union rates however showed an increase from Rs 79 69 lakhs to Rs 80 67 lakhs Of this latter sum Rs 63 25 lakhs represented the chaukidari rate under section 37(a) of the Bengal Village Self-Government Act and Rs 17 42 lakhs represented the rate under section 37(b) of the said Act as against Rs 62 47 lakhs and Rs 17 22 lakhs respectively in the preceding year The contributions from Government and the district boards fell from Rs 1 53 000 to Rs 85 924 and from Rs 4 85 lakhs to Rs 3 75 lakhs respectively

The total expenditure of union boards decreased from Rs 99 69 lakhs to Rs 97 56 lakhs of which a sum of Rs 51 46 lakhs or about 52 7 per cent of the total expenditure was on the salaries and equipment of the chaukidars and dafadars The union boards spent during the year under review a sum of Rs 7 88 lakhs on the construction and maintenance of village roads of which Rs 2 62 lakhs represented expenditure on original works a sum of Rs 6 lakhs on water supply of which Rs 4 36 lakhs represented expenditure on original works a sum of Rs 2 35 lakhs on drainage conservancy and other sanitary measures Rs 2 86 lakhs on primary education and Rs 3 98 lakhs on medical relief

4 Union Benches —Union Benches have been established under the Bengal Village Self Government Act of 1919 in all districts of Bengal except Darjeeling The total number of Benches established and in existence was 1 801 against 1 659 in the previous year The number of offences reported to these Benches was 82 723 showing a decrease of 2 686 on that of 1941 The working of the union benches continued to be satisfactory on the whole They afforded appreciable relief to the ordinary courts by disposing of a fair number of petty cases during the year These village tribunals are growing in popularity as they administer speedy justice locally at a very low cost and without any elaborate legal procedure

Union courts —Union courts have been established under the Bengal Village Self Government Act of 1919 in all the districts in Bengal except Darjeeling The total number of courts established was 1,650 against 1 629 in the previous year The number of suits instituted in these courts was 49 541 showing a decrease of 2 132 over that of 1941 Of the total number of applications for disposal during the year under report under the proviso to section 88 of the Bengal Village Self Government Act 96 cases were either dismissed or not prosecuted In 165 cases the lower courts orders were confirmed in 29 modified in 68 reversed and 22 cases were remanded for retrial The union courts are reported generally to be popular and useful to poor litigants as speedy redress is available locally at a very low cost and to be affording some relief to the Munsifs Some district Judges are of opinion that the utility of these courts would increase if a better personnel could be ensured and that further improvements and stricter supervision over the courts are required in order to free them from the suspicion of corruption and malpractices as far as possible It is reported from some districts that the introduction of the Debt Settlement Boards has affected the work of these courts to some extent

5 Relations between local officers and union boards and between district boards and union boards – The relation between the Circle Officers and the Presidents as well as between the district boards and union boards continued to be cordial There was co operation between the Presidents and the Police in the prevention and detection of crimes and in organising Village Defence Parties Co-operative conferences were held regularly

6 General Remarks —The working of union boards during the year under report was on the whole satisfactory Most of them continued to do good works of public utility such as improvement of village roads water supply and establishment of dispensaries Many engaged themselves in the furtherance of the war effort Some were very helpful in carrying out the rural reconstruction policy of Government and some did valuable work for the improvement of village sanitation with the limited resources at their disposal in spite of the inevitable tendency in too many cases to indulge in party faction

STATEMENT

Two proposals for the enlargement of the jurisdiction of the Federal Court have been under the consideration of the Government of India and the Secretary of State for some considerable time

2 The first proposal arises from the scheme adopted in sections 205 and 206 of the Constitution Act Under section 205 an appeal lies to the Federal Court and no direct appeal lies to His Majesty in Council from a judgment decree or final order of a High Court in British India if the High Court certifies that the case involves a substantial question of law as to the interpretation of the Act or any Order in Council made thereunder Section 206 empowers the Federal Legislature and by virtue of section 316 the Indian Legislature of the transitional period—to provide by Act that in such civil cases as may be specified in the Act an appeal shall lie to the Federal Court without a certificate of the nature referred to in section 205 and by sub section (2) further empowers the Federal or Indian Legislature to make consequential provision for the abolition of direct appeals in civil cases to His Majesty in Council either with or without special leave The Orders in Council hitherto made under section 220 have been so framed as to exclude section 206 from coming into force along with the remainder of Chapter I of Part IX and the section is still not in force

3 The proposal which originally commended itself to the Government of India was that Parliamentary legislation should be promoted for the amendment of section 206 so as to eliminate sundry anomalies to which attention had been drawn and that on the enactment of this legislation the whole section should be brought into force by Order in Council under section 320 so as to empower the Indian Legislature to confer a right of appeal to the Federal Court from decisions of High Courts in civil cases and consequentially to abolish direct appeals from such decisions to the Privy Council either with or without special leave After exhaustive consideration however the Secretary of State has reached the conclusion in which the Government of India concur that the Indian Legislature ought not at this stage to be placed in a position enabling it to abolish direct appeals with special leave to the Privy Council from High Courts in cases outside the scope of section 205 or in other words that any Indian legislation under section 206 providing for an appeal to the Federal Court should not deprive a party of the option of seeking special leave to appeal to the Privy Council In view of this conclusion the proposal now is that the Parliamentary legislation for the amendment of section 206 should itself provide for the coming into force of sub sections (1) and (3) thereof to the exclusion of sub section (2) and that no steps should for the present be taken to bring sub section (2) into force The effect would be to empower the Indian Legislature to vest the Federal Court with a civil appellate jurisdiction concurrent with that of the Privy Council and to leave the choice of the forum of appeal to the free option of the party to whom a right of appeal had accrued

4 Reference has been made to the desirability of removing certain anomalies before section 206 is brought into force to the extent proposed The principal point involved is that section 206 as expressed in terms limits the High Court in British India with the result that the power conferred upon the Indian Legislature by that section extends to the conferment of a right of appeal to the Federal Court from the decision of such Court only as is enumerated in section 205 to the exclusion of other Court of final appellate jurisdiction in British India (e.g. the Courts of the Judicial Commissioners in Ajmer Merwara Coorg and British Baluchistan) which are High Courts within the meaning of Indian legislation and from whose decision appeal lies to the Privy Council under section 109 of the Code of Civil Procedure Section 205 is similarly expressed with the even more anomalous result that while a direct appeal from a Constitution Act High Court in a constitutional case lies to the Federal Court a direct appeal from a Court of final appellate jurisdiction which is not such High Court continues to lie to the Privy Council to the exclusion of the Federal Court It is proposed therefore to amend both sections so as to extend the provision made for Constitution Act High Courts to other Courts of final appellate jurisdiction in British India It is also proposed to make such further amendments in section 206 as will enable the Indian Legislature to equate in all respects the conditions under which appeals will lie to the Federal Court with the condition under which appeal now lies to the Privy Council under section 109 of the Code of Civil Procedure

5 Clause (a) of sub section (1) of section 206 imposes minimum and maximum limit of Rs 10 000 and Rs 50 000 respectively on the amount or value of the subject matter necessary to the creation of a right of appeal to the Federal Court without special leave No change in this respect is proposed and it is contemplated that any legislation enacted by the Indian Legislature in pursuance of section 206 would amend section 110 of the Code of Civil Procedure so as to substitute for the reference therein to Rs 10 000 a reference to such higher sum—not being less than Rs 10 000 or more than Rs 50 000—as may be adopted as the minimum amount or value involving a right of appeal to the Federal Court without special leave The actual figure to be adopted within these limit would rest with the Indian Legislature but the figure which Government have in mind is Rs 15 000 The substitution of a reference to the higher figure for the reference in section 110 of the Code of Civil Procedure to Rs 10 000 would involve the abolition of the existing right of appeal to the Privy Council in cases in which the amount or value is not less than Rs 10 000 but is less than the higher figure to be adopted but the abolition pro tanto of existing appeals to the Privy Council by right of grant is of course within the powers of the Indian Legislature independently of sub section (2) of section 206

6 In the course of the discussions of the proposal under consideration attention has been drawn to the fact that the Federal Court has held judicially that a judgment of a single Judge of a High Court is a judgment in respect of which sub section (1) of section 205 applies despite the fact that a so called Letters Patent appeal lies to the High Court from such judgment The Secretary of State and the Government of India entertain no doubt that this decision correctly interprets the existing law but they are not convinced that the effect in this respect is desirable and they feel that it would be more consonant with principle that appeals from a High Court to the Federal Court should be confined to cases in which all rights of appeal within the High Court itself have been exhausted It is therefore proposed that the legislation in contemplation should include provision excluding the possibility of a direct appeal to the Federal Court from the judgment of a single Judge from which an appeal lies to a Bench of the High Court itself

7 The second proposal contemplates the insertion in the Constitution Act of a section empowering the Central Legislature to provide for reference to and decision by the Federal Court of questions of law arising out of orders made by any appellate tribunal constituted under the law for the time being in force in British India relating to taxes on income or in other words to transfer to the Federal Court the jurisdiction now vested in High Courts by Section 66 of the Indian Income tax Act The decision of a High Court on such reference is now appealable to the Privy Council and the section to be inserted in the Constitution Act would be so drawn as to render a decision of the Federal Court in exercise of this jurisdiction appealable to the Privy Council by leave either of the Federal Court or of the Privy Council itself The proposal is inspired in the main by the desirability of securing uniformity in the judicial interpretation of income tax law more easily than is possible under existing conditions which have not infrequently led to most embarrassing conflicts of judicial opinion

8 It is realised that if the enactment of Parliamentary legislation in the sense indicated in this note were followed by legislation in the Indian Legislature in either or both of the directions involved an increase of the present strength of the Federal Court would be required No attempt has been made to estimate the precise extent of the necessary increase but on the footing that the vesting of the Federal Court with jurisdiction in respect of income tax references was not envisaged when six was fixed by sub section (1) of section 200 as the limit to which the number of Puisne Judges can be increased without an address to His Majesty it is proposed that the contemplated Parliamentary legislation should include provision for increasing this limit to eight

9 The Secretary of State has intimated that he will be prepared to promote Parliamentary legislation on the lines indicated in this statement if but not unless he is satisfied that the proposals would be acceptable to Indian opinion Steps will therefore to taken to give the utmost possible publicity to this statement and any comments on the proposals therein which are received by the 1st May 1945 will receive careful consideration Any person or association desiring to furnish comments on the proposals should forward the same direct to the Secretary to the Government of India in the Legislative Department Any comments received will be supplied to the Members of the Central Legislature and steps will be taken in due course to arrange a debate on the proposals in each Chamber of that Legislature
